Emmie Kate Wants You to Say it With Silver!

Maquel Christopher has created a work at home business by combining her passion for design and jewelry with her love for two little girls. What started with personalized bracelets for her daughter Kate and her niece Emmie, who were born just a few weeks apart, has grown into an on-line business that features jewelry and accessories from many talented silversmiths across the country - unique items which can be personalized with monograms, names, phrases or even photographs. EmmieKate.com

Riverside Moms Start Lauren's Hope

Denise Gaskill and LeAnn Carlson started out selling personalized bracelets at a local craft fair. It was just a fun little business until they launched a line of medical ID bracelets. Lauren's Hope is a special line of fashionable medical ID jewelry because no one should ever be embarrassed by having to wear a medical

ID bracelet. They offer hundreds of styles, from leather to mood beads, mother's jewelry and dog tags. All important medical info is engraved on the ID tag which is light weight and easy to wear. LaurensHope.com
